Operation Directory

All over the country—in desk drawers, files and bookcases of Sales, Operation and Traffic Executives—there are well-thumbed copies of DISTRIBUTION AGE's 1952 Directory that will be retired from service. This issue will replace them.

In our travels, we have examined many of these issues. Most were well worn; many held together with staples, cellulose tape, or just plain paste. Only heavy traffic through those pages could have caused so much wear and tear.

We wondered what caused this traffic: Names? Places? Descriptive Details? Advertisements?

Because DA's present staff, with one exception, had nothing to do in the creation of past Directories, we took a very impersonal attitude toward these issues and dared question their contents. We have been asking those questions for the past 10 months.

Had our predecessors been with us, they (fine men and women we know them to be) would have smiled tolerantly and understandingly at our questions. But they would have been very proud to hear the answers and the fine praises of their efforts, and the words of encouragement to keep up their good work.

We learned that alert business men found in these pages the keys to successful purchase and distribution of their goods. Often, the difference between profit and loss was dependent on making the right contacts, obtaining the proper products and services, at the right time, in minimum time.

That was reassuring. Special issues, as this, are difficult to produce. Imagine what would happen in your own establishment if it was called upon to deliver four or five months' production in one.

Difficult or not, we had our directive direct from the users. We learned that what they wanted was more of this type of information, and we set out to deliver it.

As we developed our plans, our enthusiasm grew. Soon we outdid ourselves, only to learn that even we had physical and economic limitations. Major improvements are costly; they would have to be introduced gradually.

Accordingly, plans were altered, final schedules set, special personnel added, and production begun.

It was with mixed emotions that we sent this edition to press: Glad on the one hand that we could produce another volume of the "Bible" of the industry with improvements over those in the past: sorry that all of our aims did not materialize.

But we give you this promise: We will not rest until we achieve our full objective according to your directive. To that end we dedicate ourselves and this issue.

Yakkety Yak

The ICC soon will be asked to act on the Post Office Department's proposal for a 25 per cent increase in parcel post rates. Our swami sees the P.O. getting a GO.

. . . Better Watch Out: Economy-minded Rep. Kean (R., N.J.), of the House Ways and Means Committee, likes the tax law administrative changes proposed by his predecessor, Rep. King (D., Cal.). The spotlight is on the policy of some firms supplying key employees with tax-free personal benefits—such as automobiles, airplanes, housing and servants—or with too liberal expense account.

. . . Do you know that Defense spending is but 15 per cent of the gross national production? How much effect would it have—really—if it were cut one third or one half?

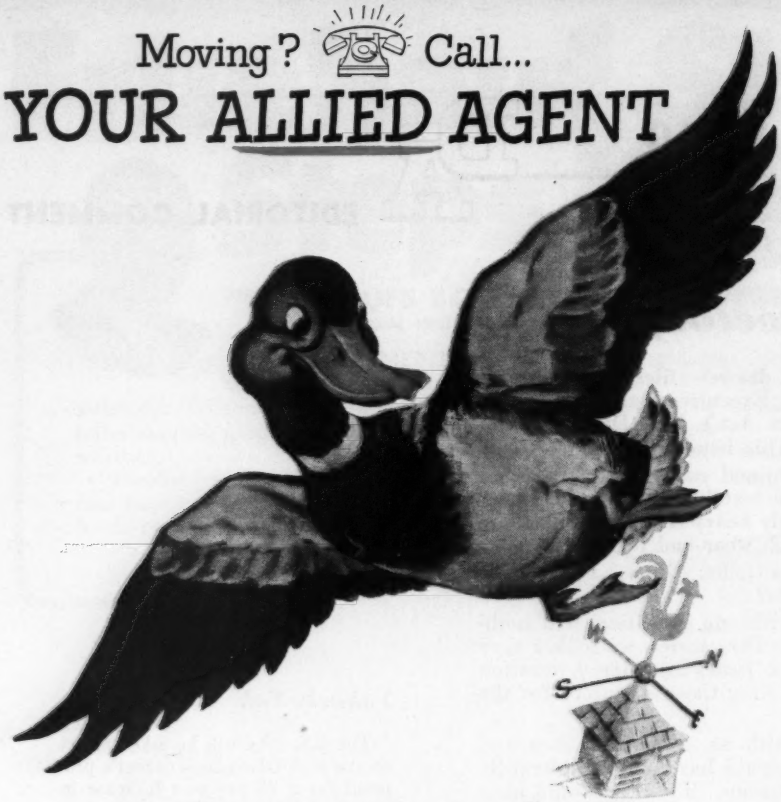

. . . That forecast on the increase of warehouse construction mentioned in our WASHINGTON column, in this issue, to the tune of $600 million is encouraging.

. . . Ex-Secretary Sawyer's report "Markets After Defense Expansion" is must reading.

. . . Reminder: If you haven't obtained a copy of DTA's "The Storage Picture," hustle a letter in the mails. It's more must reading.

Storage Information

To the Editor:

I am interested in opening up a Commercial Warehouse for storage and distribution in Newburgh, New York.

If possible will you please answer the following questions for me or advise me where I could locate this information:

1. Legislation, if any, covering regulations of the warehousing business.
2. Availability of current rates for handling, storage and the miscellaneous charges.
3. Any necessary insurances and labor regulations.

M. Schlatterer
P. O. Box No. 587
Newburgh, New York

To the Editor:

Do you know of any book that can be purchased relative to commercial storage procedures, charges, costs, etc. If so, will you please advise.

J. Owen Cord
President
Cord Moving & Storage Co.
St. Louis, Mo.

Your best source of information in connection with opening a commercial warehouse is the American Warehouseman's Association, Merchandise Division, 222 West Adams St., Chicago 6, Ill. The association maintains an extensive library of information and publishes a number of textbooks on the subject.—Ed.

Correction Please

To The Editor:

I was happy to see the construction photograph on the new $7,000,000 Matson Terminal, in the October issue.

There is only one minor error and that is: Ray called it the Wilmington, California, District Board of Harbor Commissioners. Actually, we are the Board of Harbor Commissioners City of Los Angeles.

Wilmington is one of three districts in the Harbor. They do not have a Board, but a member of the Commission is usually appointed from this district by Mayor Bowron.

The other two districts are Terminal Island and San Pedro.

DTA Revenue Vehicle Census Shows 150,208-Unit Class I Fleet in '50

DTA has announced publication of a census of the revenue vehicles owned and operated by Class I motor carriers of property in the nation.

Statistics are based on analyses of the annual report-of-equipment schedules of 2027 Class I motor carriers of property (both common and contract) reporting to the ICC in 1950.

The report lists vehicles by year, model, type of service of vehicle, body type, and weight. Class I carriers in 1950 owned 114,662 power units (trucks and truck tractors) and leased an additional 35,546 units. They also owned 114,041 semi-trailers and 4,958 full trailers.

The report contains seven tables which break down the equipment by: Number of units owned and operated; number of power units leased; number of units in various regions of the U. S.

Package Printing Division Formed By Packaging Institute Committee

The rapid growth of the Printed Packaged Materials Committee of the Packaging Institute under the leadership of E. H. Balkema, of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., has led to the creation of a new Division in the Technical Committee organization which will be known as the Package Printing Division.

Mr. Balkema was named division chairman by the Technical Operations Committee at its December meeting, where the decision was made to convert the 200-man "committee" into a Division, a move that was prompted for greater ease of administration.

Up to the time of the change the Printed Packaging Materials Committee consisted of a steering subcommittee and 15 technical subcommittees, many of the latter had sub-sub-committees.

Three Warehouse Training Conferences Scheduled in Mo., Calif., and Md. in 1953

The Refrigeration Research Foundation and The National Association of Refrigerated Warehouses announce three training conferences for warehouse operating personnel in 1953.

February 1 to 5, the Missouri Valley Training Conference will be held at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, Mo. The Pacific States Training Conference is scheduled for March 15 to 19, at the Municipal Auditorium and Sainte Claire Hotel, San Jose, Calif. The North Atlantic Training Conference will open in Baltimore, Md., at the Sheraton-Belvedere, April 12-16.

Membership in TRRF or NARW is not a prerequisite, the conference committee stated. All refrigerated warehouse personnel is invited to participate. Registration for hotel rooms is being handled by NARW office, 608 Tower Building, Washington 5, D. C. Conference fee is $47.50.

Carrier Reports Due At ICC Mar. 31st

The 1952 annual reports of Class I motor carriers are due at the Interstate Commerce Commission on or before March 31.

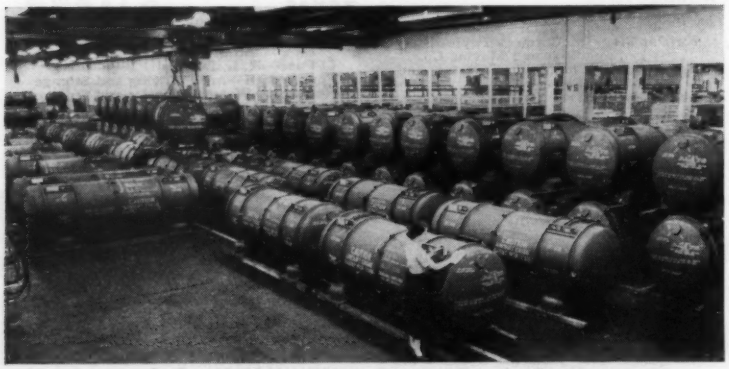

The Commission, which requires Class I carriers to submit two copies of the report, said that additional forms may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., at a cost of $1.50 per copy. It was emphasized that requests for additional copies should not be addressed to the Commission.

Distinguished Service

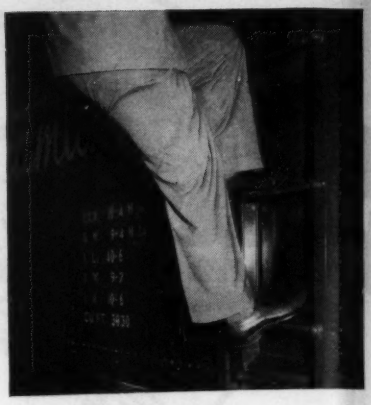

Walter P. Hedden, Billings Wilson and Wilbur LaRoe, Jr., all executives of the New York Port Authority, have been awarded the Authority's Distinguished Service Medal.

Special awards honoring 65 drivers who represent 380 years and nearly 19,000,000 miles of safe driving for Consolidated Freightways were presented by the company last month at safety dinners throughout its 11-state system.

Completed jet engines at the Kansas City, Mo., plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp. are canned for shipment in these special skid mounted containers, which part at the center to simplify insertion or removal of engines. Dry air is pumped into the filled containers, which are mounted on air filled rubber cushions and fitted with lifting gromets for winch or crane handling.

Union Pacific Railroad has developed a technique to heighten safety of side ladder treads on box cars. By recessing the side sheet adjacent to the ladder, clearance was increased from about two in. to five in. without altering inside dimensions. The added space gives the climber a more secure foothold on the ladder rung.

NARW Predicts Progress

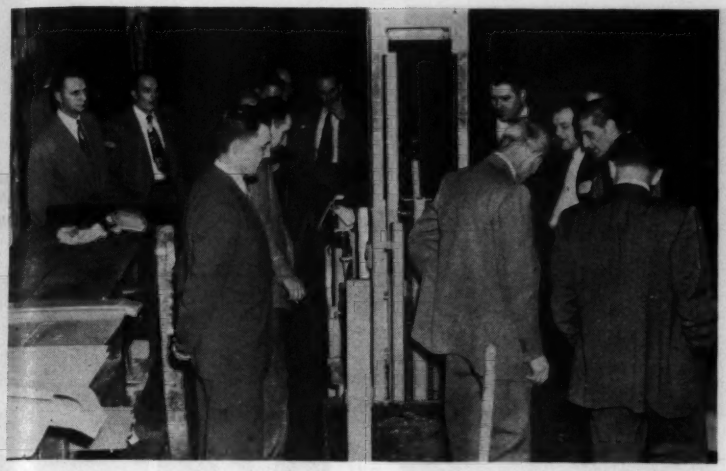

A. B. Efroymson, president, National Association of Refrigerated Warehouses, has predicted a full year of industry growth and progress for the refrigerated warehousing industry for 1953. His comments were made during a conference of industry officials in the Association's headquarters office in Washington last month.

Efroymson was optimistic about both business conditions and sound industry progress during 1953. He emphasized the unusual expansion that has taken place in perishable foods storage during '52 and cited the fact that refrigerated warehousing space has grown by some 28 million cu ft since the end of World War II. "This trend will continue," the official predicted, "and during 1953 we shall see considerably more space added, particularly in the low temperature categories."

Increased Rates

The New York Public Service Commission has allowed intrastate motor carriers of property to increase freight rates by 6 per cent. The new rates become effective 10 days after formal filings of the new tariffs are made with the Commission.

Members of the Chicago Chapter of the American Material Handling Society, Inc., on one of their recent periodic tours as part of the group's educational program, inspect an electric powered lift truck at the Automatic Transportation Co. plant in Chicago, Ill. Approximately 100 materials handling engineers toured the Automatic factory and the Electric Storage Battery Co. plant.

New Models Valued at $10 Million to Be Shown At Materials Handling Exposition in May

Thousands of new models of materials handling equipment, valued at more than $10 million will be displayed by exhibiting companies at the Materials Handling Exposition at Convention Hall, Philadelphia, May 18-22.

A test-check of some of the 255 companies which will demonstrate their machines revealed that hundreds of new developments will be shown for the first time at the show. It will be the largest capital goods show to be held anywhere in the country during 1953 and will tax the tremendous capacity of all six halls of Philadelphia's huge auditorium.

Of major interest to visitors will be the stress this year on systems of materials handling. The use of various types of equipment to perform special functions will be emphasized.

Vessel Construction

Some 724 inland watercraft vessels were constructed last year, 303 are under construction, and 778 are scheduled to begin construction this year, according to a DTA report.

Poor Road Maintenance Blamed on Inflation

The failure of highway maintenance to keep pace with depreciation is due to increased maintenance costs caused by dollar inflation, according to R. H. Baldock, Oregon highway engineer. Mr. Baldock's observations were made at the December convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Equipment Manufacturer Predicts 'Bright' Future

The market potential for materials handling equipment is sufficiently large to assure present manufacturers profitable operations for the foreseeable future, George Spatta, president, Clark Equipment Co., said in a year-end statement.

Mr. Spatta listed three factors which contribute to maintaining a strong market position:

1. The fact that mechanized materials handling is relatively new:

2. The continually pressing need for management to cut costs:

3. The rising costs of building construction, which make it mandatory for plant owners to realize maximum utility from each cu ft.

ATA President Reports Gross Up, Revenue Down

Walter F. Carey, of Birmingham, Mich., president of the American Trucking Association, Inc., has reported the trucking industry during 1952 continued at record levels, investing $2.6 billion in new equipment and adding half a million new employees for a total employment figure of 6,009,000—second only to agriculture.

In a year-end review of industry activities, he noted that gross revenues of the for-hire carriers reporting to the ICC increased six per cent over 1951, but higher costs cut net revenues seven per cent below the previous year.

Turn-Around Reduced

Baltimore Port interests recently established a regional record by unloading an ore ship from Liberia and loading her with coal for Germany in the elapsed time of 45 hrs and 30 min.

"A substantial volume of trade, with perhaps moderate increases in some lines, barring sudden changes in the Korea situation," is the forecast for 1953 trade prospects between Japan and the Pacific Coast by Milton W. Melander, president of the San Francisco C of C World Trade Association.

GMC and Hollingshead Sponsor Joint Conference On Preservation and Packaging Procedures

How chemistry is enabling man to battle rust and corrosion to save taxes and cut material costs for the consumer was pointed out during a recent Joint Industry Conference on Preservation and Packaging, sponsored by General Motors and the R. M. Hollingshead Corp. in Camden, N. J.

Dr. Herbert H. Uhlig, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, suggested a sub-title for the conference, "Raising the American standard of living still higher." His definition of corrosion and his discussion of its causes and mechanisms set the stage for an interchange of ideas.

Walter Turner, packaging consultant, described the early development and experiences with peelable plastics recounting how GMC had saved the government between a quarter and half million dollars during the first year of its use. Today, he noted, government approved Cellulose Acetate Butyrate has the advantage of being water white, has greater tensile strength, greater flexibility and greater plasticity.

Joseph Carroll of the Naval Experimental Station in Philadelphia told how war experience pointed up the need for an engine preservative compound that would not flow off surfaces during the expected storage life of the engine. Thixotrophy (change by touch) provided the answer. Carroll told how MIL-C-5545 was developed and how the navy has used it as a new approach to corrosion prevention.

Materials Conference

A three-day conference to discuss the vast range of basic materials available to manufacturers will be held at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York, June 16-18. Three-year Forecast

There will be continued good business for both the distribution and production segments of industry through 1953. This will "probably" be true of most of 1954. There is a "real possibility" of a downtrend by the beginning of 1955. But this can largely be forestalled if business and industry take steps now. This puts the lion's share of the responsibility in the lap of distribution —including wholesale and retail outlets.

Such is a rough summary of a 90-page Commerce Department report on "Markets After Defense Expansion," based on findings of a selected group of economists after a six-month survey. This is the first concrete move toward putting into effect a new Commerce policy — more emphasis on distribution rather than production. The idea is that if major attention is paid to finding new markets, improved merchandising techniques, and more efficient distribution generally, there will be a natural demand for high production—and resulting good times.

Strong production demand for the next two years is forecast because of the defense program—which now accounts for about 80-85 per cent of federal spending. This will hold good regardless of Congressional appropriations this year. The reason is: The military establishments begin calendar year 1953 with $110 billion already authorized but unspent. Military deliveries will begin to slack off in late 1954. Consumer buying will have to offset it.

Government Procurement

Defense procurement will be the main economic prop for another two years. As already stated, this is the biggest single grouping of government buying. Total national security purchases are scheduled to rise from the present annual rate of $49 billion to between $55-$60 billion for this year. Defense spending will remain high in 1954, dropping down to $50 billion or less for 1955.

Of equal importance to the distribution industries are regular and recurring expenditures by not only federal but the state and local governments—particularly the latter. Federal expenditures for non-defense goods and services will continue at about the present $5 billion rate. But the expenditure rate of $23 billion by state and local governments may be counted on to increase by as much as 5-8 per cent, the report says.

Farmer Market

Attention is called to the agricultural market for machinery and equipment. It is noted in the Commerce report that while total farm ownership is down, agricultural production is up. This clearly indicates more highly mechanized farming. In spite of defense drain on materials, the farm market for machinery-equipment is running better than $2 billion a year. It can be increased.

With exception of trucks (farmers are buying $1 billion worth of trucks and cars a year), farm equipment buying has been centered for the most part on production equipment. This indicates a potentially broad market for distribution lines. With commodity prices seen as leveling off, perhaps dropping, it will be necessary to partially offset this trend by reducing costs through increased efficiency.

Warehousing Facilities

A good year is currently forecast for all construction work, perhaps in excess of the 1952 record figure of $32.5 billion. An upswing is expected in construction of oil and gas storage facilities, many projects having been delayed by lack of materials. An upturn is also expected in the dry cargo warehousing field which has also been held back in construction to an even greater extent than oil and gas storage facilities.

Warehouse and loft construction last year fell 12 per cent below the $544,000,000 figure for 1951. On the basis of an expected freer materials supply, the 1953 total is expected to go above $600,000,000 this year. Garage construction, down 25 per cent for 1952, is expected to return to the 1951 level.

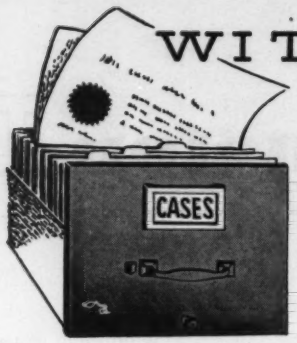

Controls Outlook

A strong drive is expected to be made in Congress for continuation of price controls beyond April 30 and production controls past June 30, the present expiration dates. If the try at getting active controls extended should fail, atempt will be made to get them on a "standby" basis. Talk of wage conrols will be soft pedaled.

Argument for retaining price controls over machinery, equipment and metals is expected to be along the line that if controls are not renewed, business would see an "immediate" price increase on 200 or so items sold chiefly to industry and government. Groups advocating retention of controls expect the demand for these items to continue to exceed supply for remainder of 1953.

Seaway Project

Chances of congressional approval for United States participation in the St. Lawrence Seaway project are said to be at least as good in 1953 as they were a year ago. Election results have not brought much change in Congressional sentiment. While some of the foremost advocates were defeated at the polls, this loss was just about offset by gains in new potential support.

WITHIN THE LAW

By Leo T. Parker

Legal Consultant, Distribution Age

WAREHOUSING

During the past few weeks the higher courts rendered several outstanding decisions, knowledge of which will assist warehousemen to avoid similar expensive law suits. I shall briefly review these cases.

Is a warehouseman liable if he fails to provide air space around perishables?

According to a late higher court decision if a man fails to provide adequate and sufficient air spaces around perishable merchandise he is negligent and, therefore, liable for spoilage or damage to the products.

For example in L—— v. K—— Storage Co., 245 Pac. (2d) 183, it was shown that a warehouseman failed to have proper and adequate space for circulation of air around stored onions. The evidence proved that the warehouseman piled the sacks of onions high and in close formation. The onions sweat, became damp and moldy.

In subsequent litigation the higher court held the warehouseman liable to the owner of the stored onions for the full and present market value of the onions.

This court also held that a warehouseman never is entitled to recover payment of storage charges on goods, after the stored goods are damaged through negligence of the warehouseman.

In each litigation involving damage to stored goods, other chattels, and real property a jury must decide the amount of the damage.

For illustration, in S—— Warehouse Co. v. A—— Railroad Co., 71 S. E. (2d) 893, the testimony showed facts as follows: A railroad company established a drainage system that caused water to flood warehouses owned by a warehouse company. The latter sued the railway company for $112,000 actual and punitive damages.

The lower court held in favor of the warehouse company without allowing the jury to decide whether the full $112,000 damages should be allowed.

The higher court decided that in such cases a jury must decide the exact amount of allowable damages.

Considerable discussion has arisen from time to time over the legal question: Is a warehouseman liable for delivering stored goods to an agent or employe of the owner of the goods, without a non-negotiable warehouse receipt?

According to a late higher court decision the answer is no, if the owner of the goods made any statement or performed any act which led the warehouseman to believe that the agent was authorized to remove the goods from the warehouse.

Must a warehouseman immediately surrender possession of goods on demand of the owner?

Modern higher courts consistently hold that a warehouseman always must immediately deliver up possession of stored goods on the owner's demand, if the warehouseman has no valid lien on the goods.

For illustration, in B—— v. A—— Van and Storage Co., 91 Atl. (2d) 130, testimony showed facts as follows: One B—— stored household goods in a warehouse. Later when he withdrew the goods from the warehouse he discovered that a barrel of china was missing. He notified the warehouseman. He then sued the warehouseman. Before the date of the trial was set, the warehouseman located the missing barrel of china. The warehouseman notified B—— to this effect, offering to ship the china to B—— if the latter would sign a paper relieving the warehouseman from liability and also dismiss the pending suit.

The higher court held the warehouseman liable for $532.40 damages, saying that refusal of the warehouseman to deliver the barrel of china to B—— on demand, and without any restrictions, or demands, was legal conversion which rendered the warehouseman liable to B—— for full value of the china plus incidental expenses.

Does insurance accepted by State protect warehouseman against all employe injury?

The average warehouseman believes that when an application for insurance is accepted by the State Industrial Commission he is protected against all suits by injured employes. However, this is not always so. It is well known among law experts that under various and many circumstances the State Compensation Laws only partly accomplish the desired and intended purposes.

Obviously, it is not the intentions of the law-making bodies, when enacting State Compensation Laws, to leave loopholes through which injured employes may recover damages from their employers, in addition to the regular and lawful compensation. In fact, if employers understand and abide by compensation laws, ample protection is afforded both the employer and employes who must accept and be satisfied with the amount of compensation specified by the state laws.

Under certain circumstances an employe who is assaulted may recover compensation under the State Workmen's Compensation Act.

For example, in G—— v. G—— Co., 65 Atl. (2d) 520, it was shown that an employe named G—— was employed by a company. His duties included the supervision of employes and the conduct of labor-management relations with union representatives. He conferred with a vice president of a union with respect to a proposed lay-off of a night man and the transfer of his duties to a day man. G—— left and proceeded to the upper floor where he was followed by the Union vice president who, without warning, struck a blow which caused G—— to seek medical attention for over a year. G—— sued for compensation under the State Workmen's Compensation Act.

The higher court decided that the injury arose from an accident "arising out of the employment" and awarded compensation. The higher court approved the award saying:

"An assault may be deemed to be an 'accident' within the Workmen's Compensation Act, despite its willful or criminal nature. It 'arises out of the employment if it ensues from a risk reasonably incident thereto'. The risk of receiving a blow, as here, from a union officer who evidently could not control his resentment about the proposed lay-off of one of the union members or about the manner in which the petitioner was conducting the employer's labor relations was reasonably incident to the employment and was compensable under our Workmen's Compensation Act."

TRANSPORTATION

During a recent trip through Western States the writer was particularly impressed with lack of legal knowledge of officials and executives of transportation companies of the lawful distinctions of liabilities of common carriers and private carriers for loss of or destruction of shipped merchandise. In fact several important questions were asked by these persons which I shall endeavor to briefly cover in these pages.

Is there a distinction between the liability of common and private carriers?

The higher courts consistently hold that there are only two classified carriers, namely common and private. It is certain that there is a vast "distinction" between the liability of these two kinds of carriers.

It is important to know that the higher courts hold that a common carrier is practically an insurer of the safe arrival of shipped goods which it accepts for transportation. The courts agree that a common carrier is liable for all loss, except such as may be caused by (1) the act of God; or (2) a public enemy of the United States; or (3) the fault of the shipper; or (4) the inherent nature of the goods.

A common carrier cannot avoid liability for lost or damaged merchandise on the plea that it was caused by an act of God, if the testimony proves that the carrier could have prevented the damage by using an "ordinary" degree of care, notwithstanding an act of God contributed to the damage. But if the act of God was the proximate cause of the damage, the carrier is relieved from all liability.

In the leading case of F—— v. U——, 106 Fed. (2d) 437, the testimony showed facts, as follows: A shipment was damaged by flood waters before the common carrier could remove it from the car. The shipper filed suit to recover the loss but the higher court refused to hold the common carrier liable because the flood rose unexpectedly. This court said:

"The test to be applied is not the hindsight test, but the foresight test. The question is: Could the carrier reasonably have anticipated that damage would be caused by such an act of God? . . . ."

Is a common carrier ever liable for damages caused by fault of the shipper?

It is true that under no circumstances is a common carrier liable for damage to a shipment caused by fault of the shipper. This rule of law is applicable irrespective of the character of the damage. For example, a common carrier is not liable where the damage directly resulted from insecure packing of the merchandise by the shipper, or where the shipper packs two kinds of merchandise in such a manner that either or both packages are damaged. In one case a shipper packed sodium cloride in the same container in which an expensive machine was packed. The sodium cloride contacted the machine during shipment and caused considerable damage. The higher court held the carrier not liable because the damage was caused by fault of the shipper.

If damage to a shipment results from inherent nature of the goods, the carrier is not liable.

For instance, in one case the higher court refused to hold a common carrier liable for destruction of shipped goods by fire caused by a short circulated electric battery.

As stated above, a common carrier never is liable for loss of, damage to or destruction of shipped goods caused by a "public enemy."

With respect to the term "public enemy" the courts have very consistently held that this term means any soldier, or other person in the military or other service of a country with which the United States is actively and actually at war.

To what degree does liability of a private carrier compare with that of common carrier?

While, as explained, a common carrier is liable practically as an insurer of shipped goods, liability of a private carrier is much less.

Legally a common carrier is any carrier which holds itself out to the public as being ready to transport goods for all who demand the service. However, a private carrier is one who transports goods for only selected persons or firms.

Fast Freight Rail Schedules Now Give You SIXTH MORNING DELIVERY AT THE PORT OF SAN FRANCISCO GATEWAY FROM THE CHICAGO & ST. LOUIS AREAS

(and equivalent distance points)

Rail-Ocean routing through San Francisco to the Orient is faster and shorter than through any other California port, or any Atlantic or Gulf port.

EXAMPLE: An export manufacturer in the Chicago area sells a carload of high-value machinery to a customer in Japan. Time is of the essence. The shipper sees that the car is routed to San Francisco via either Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, or Western Pacific as the delivering rail carrier.

All three lines give sixth morning delivery at this port, where there is a ship scheduled to sail for Japan almost every day. (San Francisco leads in high frequency of sailings.)

On advance order from the designated steamship line, the Harbor Belt R. R. will immediately pick up the car at interchange, and spot it on the pier where the ship is alongside.

It is possible for expedited shipments to move from Chicago to Japan in only 19 days on through Export Bill of Lading.

See your transcontinental R. R. representative, or contact our Chicago office regarding SIXTH MORNING DELIVERY by rail to the Port of San Francisco. See your Foreign Freight Forwarder for consolidated car service.

Truck Trains Cut Platform Handling

Under-the-floor truck-tow conveyor system speeds truck schedules,

A SAMPLE of the efficiency with which large transfer companies slash truck freight handling costs is evidenced by the conveyor system installed by Consolidated Freightways at its Seattle, Wash., truck terminal.

Faster truck schedules, reduced freight handling time, lower loss and damage claims are being achieved daily at the giant transfer terminal, through the use of endless power-driven under-the-floor truck-tow conveyor systems.

Old vs. New

With old-fashioned hand trucks, the proper length of a freight dock was largely dictated by manpower costs or the amount of time that had to be spent hand-trucking the freight. The concealed conveyor system has reduced handwork to loading the carts and taking freight off at proper doorways—for an estimated saving of 33 per cent in handling costs!

The overall plan of operation is the same at all of Consolidated's terminals throughout the country.

Incoming freight from local sources for over-the-road delivery to distant destinations is unloaded

Left, above: Capacity loads are hauled along by the concealed underfloor conveyor system that clears the floor to permit better utilization of working areas. Below: Freight handling is reduced, schedules speeded up, loss and damage claims minimized, loss of valuable manpower in carrying or pushing is saved, and errors and confusion avoided by Consolidated's underfloor tow system from pick-up trucks to four-wheel rubber tired platform carts.

Continuous Movement

After chalking the necessary identification code number on a small blackboard attached to the front of the cart, a drop pin on this carrier is released through a narrow slot in the floor. This engages the cart with a pusher trolley on a continuously moving conveyor chain, which then tows it along a rectangular course 302 ft long and 50 ft wide.

Freight handlers stationed at the various bays remove cargo from the carts at a point opposite the correct highway truck, or, if the whole cartload is destined for one place, the cart's drop pin is raised to disengage the cart so it can be parked, ready for transfer of its cargo to the delivery truck.

Platform carts holding freight that must be held until arrival of an outbound truck at dock are parked in a rectangular island within the path of the conveyor line, or at other equally convenient stations.

Incoming Freight

Incoming freight from highway trucks is similarly handled, with distribution to bays where the proper local delivery trucks are located.

Unlike overhead trolley systems, Consolidated's installation is unseen and out of the way, with but a narrow slot between steel cover plates in the floor to bear evidence that a smooth-running conveyor system operates in a shallow steel tunnel underneath the concrete floor!

Variable Speed

With a variable speed regulated from a range of 80 to 250 fpm, and a normal rate of movement averaging 160 fpm, up to 71 platform carts loaded to 1,000-lb capacity can be moved at one time.

Two hundred and fifty of the four-wheeled rubber tired flat carts, each 3 ft wide and 4 ft long, comprise the dock's equipment, along with 50 two-wheel trailer carts that are 3 ft wide and 3½ ft long. These trailer carts are used for transporting long, king-sized packages.

The terminal also is provided with 25 four-wheel hand truck attachments for trundling barrels of oil, electric motors and the like.

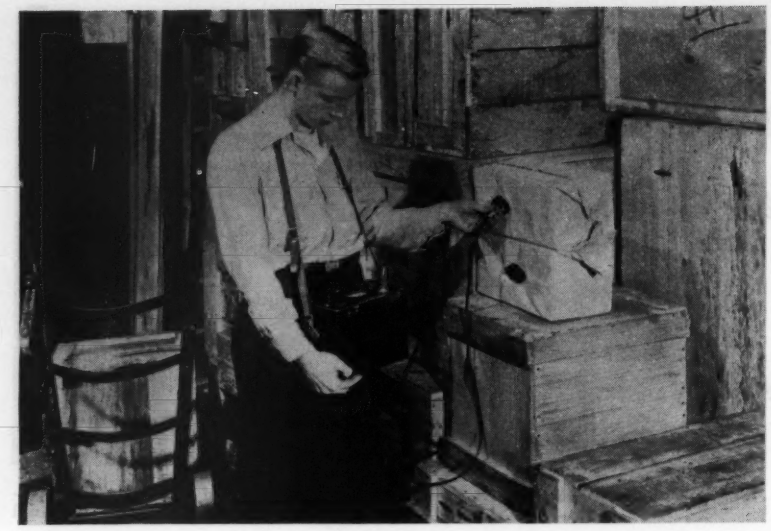

Consolidated is pleased with its $20,000 investment. One hundred thousand pounds of freight are moved at a time along the 716-foot system, and the absence of any overhead conveyor structure eliminates interference with possible fork-lift truck movements about the giant dock.

Freight Checking

Incoming and outgoing freight can be checked more thoroughly and with a speed that defies comparison with the laborious hand trucking system. This reduces to a minimum the incidence of shortage and damage. Inasmuch as the freight seldom touches the floor of the terminal, handling costs per hundredweight has been measurably lowered. Finally, since cargoes are seldom stacked on the floor, this mechanized handling makes for greater, usable working area.

The entire freight handling operation is speeded up; more and faster trips are possible and order-assembly manhours are cut by a measurable percentage.

Where a transfer terminal is of sufficient magnitude, an innovation such as that put in effect by Consolidated, is of considerable practical value. In view of continuing labor shortages, the shift from muscle work to robot mechanisms should interest truckers concerned with speed and economical operation and reduction of cartage losses. •

From tiny precision parts to huge ordnance pieces, aircraft and machinery, each package can be tested via American's Hydrotector in just a few seconds

Military saves millions by new testing unit which eliminates costly unpacking and repacking system formerly used in sampling supplies and equipment for corrosion

Sensitive Instrument Detects Moisture in Sealed Packages

EFFECTIVENESS of sealed packages in preventing corrosion damage to their contents can now be measured quickly, easily and inexpensively by a new humidity testing device.

It was first developed for use by the armed forces in Type II packages, mothballed equipment, armament and industry. Now being used by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, the complete system consists of sensing element, portable meter, mountings and tools.

The Hydrotector is an electronic instrument which "sees inside" sealed packages and measures the degree of moisture to an accuracy of plus or minus 2½ percent. Measurement is accomplished by a small sensing element permanently installed inside the package. This element is connected electrically through a mounting to the exterior of the package.

The portable meter makes contact with the mounting for reading. No special training is required for the meter operator because the instrument is gauged to read safe or unsafe, depending upon inside conditions of the package. An individual package may be checked in less than two seconds.

Installation

The unit can be installed in packages already sealed without doing harm to the moisture barrier or may be installed in packages being prepared for storage. It is a new development in packaging which allows constant, accurate checks without destroying packages in order to check their contents.

Ordnance interest in the humidity sensing element stems from a responsibility to package thousands of items for storage or shipment in safe, rust-preventative containers.

The sensing elements may be sealed in all types of containers, ranging from heavy metal types to foil wrapped packages. They may be sealed in pressurized containers since pressure changes do not affect readings. Special mountings are available for any application.

The element is easy to install. A stuffing box carries the electrical leads through the moisture barriers. The sensing element is mounted inside the package and is connected electrically to a receptacle outside the package. Since readings are taken electrically, no windows are required.

The Hydrotector sensing element is sturdy, light in weight (½ oz.), and compact (2 in. high; ¾ in. diameter), making it widely adaptable.

It is secured to its mounting by means of one retainer screw and is protected from damage by a perforated metal shield. Sensing elements are re-useable and interchangeable. •

MATERIAL HANDLING

"MATERIAL Handling — General Rules, Analysis and Cost Data, the second in the Material Handling Institute's Library of Know How series, has been published. Two more booklets in this popular series are planned by MHI.

The first booklet, which served as an introduction to the science of materials handling and which was extremely well received by the profession, was reviewed in DISTRIBUTION AGE, Aug., 1952, Page 47.

Section I of the latest publication is devoted to General Rules, detailing basic facts about the science. The Rules were designed to help users find practices that need improvement.

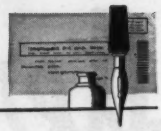

Analysis is the title of the second section. It outlines methods of analyzing MH operations to find out what is wrong with them, and to guide the development of better methods.

"The proof of a better handling idea is in its reduction of costs," according to the booklet. The third section, accordingly, is devoted to Cost Data. It tells what to look for in MH costs and how to compare them.

As in the case of the first booklet, the new publication is excellently prepared — concise but comprehensive. The fundamentals are explained clearly, giving even the novice a good grasp of the growing science of materials handling.•

6-Ton Truck Crane

Thew Shovel Co. announces the addition of a new 6-ton truck crane to their line. It is designated as Lorain Model TL-10 Truck Crane. The TL-10 consists of a complete superstructure equipped as lifting crane which can also be used as a 3/8-yd dragline or clamshell. It is designed primarily for field mounting on a suitable new or used truck furnished by the customer. However, it has many other applications such as mounting on piers, barges, bins, ships docks, trailers, flat cars and the like. It incorporates all of the features of the Lorain "TL-Series" such as unit assembly of packaged components, oil enclosed gears, antifriction bearings, interchangeable clutch shoes and safety glass windows. The TL-10 is a two-drum, gasoline-powered machine fully equipped with a 25-ft 2-piece, butt-flange connected boom. Center sections can be had to extend the boom to 45 ft. Tagline for clamshell service, fairlead for dragline service, precision power boom lowering device and other extras are available also.

Load Pusher Attachment Speeds Bulk Handling

Development of a new load-pusher attachment for fork trucks, designed to speed the handling of bulky, unpalletized loads such as baled scrap, paper or textiles—and the loading of highway carriers unable to accommodate fork trucks because of their floor load capacities or low overheads—has been announced by Baker-Raulang Co.

Baker's pusher allows fork truck users to pick up large, unpalletized loads, haul them to discharge points and unload them in seconds—with no manual handling involved.

It can also be used to unit-load highway carriers which fork trucks cannot enter.

Dollars go farther in these custom-built vans

When we say, "Dollars go farther in a Gerstenslager Custom-built Van" the statement has a double meaning.

Meaning No. 1: You get extra value in terms of fine appearance, enduring construction, and body maintenance economy when you own a Gerstenslager Custom-built Van. Typical Gerstenslager customers find this true and that is why the statement has a second meaning: "Dollars travel farther geographically for the purpose of obtaining this extra value."

Detailed statistics are elusive but we are firmly convinced they would show that no other custom-built van in the U. S. A. can match the average "dollar mileage" of expenditures made by van owners across the continent for Gerstenslager Bodies built in Wooster, Ohio.

Reel Handling Truck

Designed for handling reels up to 96 in. in diameter and weighing up to 20,000 lb, a powered platform truck produced by Elwell-Parker Electric Co. is equipped with a rocking platform and powered winch. In operation, the truck is moved to a reel standing on the floor. Dual cables connected to the winch are attached to the pin running through the reel. The winch is used to pull the heavy load onto the rocking platform. As the roll strikes a horizontal bar located on the front of the battery compartment, power to the winch is cut off. Additional features include an overload slip clutch and a worm gear reduction unit.

WHERE-TO-BUY

MATERIALS HANDLING EQUIPMENT, PACKAGING & SUPPLIES

HAVING numerous sources of supply—whether it be raw materials, equipment, tools or services—always has been a characteristic of good management. For years, DISTRIBUTION AGE has tried to aid management in this respect by compiling this "Where-to-Buy" Section.

It should be quickly apparent, from the number of pages in this section, that no attempt has been made to include all products and services used by industries served by DISTRIBUTION AGE. Nor are all products and services available from any single company listed in these pages. A complete "Buyer's Directory" would more than fill this issue.

The selection of items listed is based principally on the type of products and services in which readers have shown interest by direct inquires, currently and in the past. Even under these conditions, it has been necessary to conserve space by grouping kindred products and, in a few cases, confining certain listings only to advertisers.

The editors will be happy to supply additional information on request. A group of postage-paid postcards on Page 53 is supplied for this purpose.

Because each of the manufacturers listed has cooperated with the editors, by filling in requested information on special forms, please mention DISTRIBUTION AGE when writing them directly.

Although every precaution has been exercised in the compilation of this directory, the publishers cannot assume responsibility for errors.

WHY is ELECTRIC FEEDRAIL® so widely used for powering hoists and cranes?

The basic reason is clear-cut. ELECTRIC FEEDRAIL, with its enclosed conductors, eliminates the hazards of exposed wiring and reduces maintenance. In other words, from the power standpoint, ELECTRIC FEEDRAIL makes hoist and crane operation as near 100% safe as it can be for both personnel and equip ment. It's trouble-free and a real money saver.

Write for descriptive literature which gives you full details about ELECTRIC FEEDRAIL, including facts and data on capacities, installation, planning and the preparation of specifications.

The ELECTRIC FEEDRAIL system, with its standard straight, curved and transfer track sections, is readily "tailored to fit" practically any crane and hoist installation. It's the safe, convenient, adaptable system for both new and existing installations. Full engineering cooperation is at your service—without obligation.

Let the Figures Prove How Much More You Save With "Keyed-For-the-Job" Automatic Trucks

There's only one RIGHT truck for each material handling job . . . and Automatic has the experience and know how that saves you money with trucks "Keyed-For-the-Job"

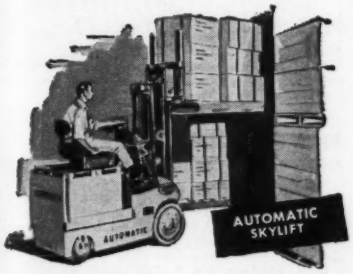

Moves tons of your product at the touch of a button . . . raise load to moving height in seconds . . . works all day for as little as pennies.

BEFORE you buy any material handling truck, be sure it's "keyed-for-the-job" in your plant. A truck which is either too big, too small, or inadequate for efficiently handling your particular product, may not save you enough material handling money to pay its cost within a reasonable time. Or those savings may be delayed longer.

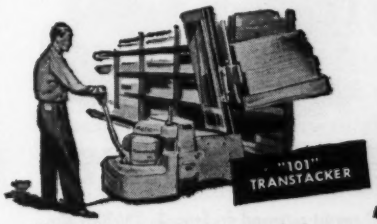

The way to be sure you get money-saving performance that lets you write off its investment quickly, is to take a look at how many more electric trucks Automatic has to offer . . . how many more ingenious devices it has to fit whatever "tough" handling problem you have.

From the smallest to the largest truck . . . from the lightest to the heaviest products to be moved, lifted or tiered, expect the right truck from Automatic...an electric truck "keyed-for-your-job," and your job alone!

That is the secret of really cutting material handling costs. Put Automatic electric trucks to work in your plant, and let the figures prove that Automatic Trucks cost so little to operate, so little to maintain. Mail coupon for facts on Automatic "Keyed-for-the-job" electric trucks.

Lifts, moves and tiers material 132 inches from floor to top of fork. Drives and operates like an automobile—speeds up operation—reduces operator fatigue.

Ability to maneuver in crowded quarters makes this model ideal for operation in narrow aisles, and in areas where floor or elevator capacities are limited.

Designed for heavy duty handling requirements, the Skylift Giant is available in capacities ranging from 20,000 pounds to 80,000 pounds.

MAIL COUPON TODAY—for free colorful brochures containing diagrams, data, complete specifications on Automatic's New Transveyor line.

WISCONSIN HEAVY-DUTY Air-Cooled ENGINES

Based on data contained in a "Facts for Industry" report released on Sept. 5, 1952 by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, an aggregate average of 50.61% of all carburetor type internal combustion engines produced during 1950-'51 within an 11 to 175 cu. in. displ. range (approx. 3 to 40 hp.) were WISCONSIN HEAVY-DUTY AIR-COOLED ENGINES (exclusive of aircraft, automotive, outboard marine and "captive" engines built by various manufacturers for use on their own equipment).

Here is positive proof of top preference for Wisconsin Engines both by original equipment manufacturers and users of power-operated equipment. Proof of constantly growing recognition of the special adaptability of these fine engines to fit both the machine and the job. Proof of heavy-duty dependability and trouble-free air-cooling under weather and climatic extremes.

Wisconsin general-purpose Air-Cooled Engines have been pre-judged and pre-selected by more power-wise purchasers than ALL other makes of engines combined, within a 3 to 40 hp. power range. Perhaps it's your turn to specify "Wisconsin". Descriptive literature and engineering data on request.

GENERAL LINE OF SPECIAL NAILS

For New Pallets
For Pallet Repairs

These nails with extra holding strength are finding an extended variety of uses. Large quantities are used in the manufacture of warehouse pallets to prevent the pallet deck boards from working loose during repeated handling. The nails do not work loose because of temperature changes of the material into which they are driven. They are proof against the racking, while in motion, of railroad car bodies, wooden vehicles in general, prefabricated building sections, boats, docks subject to wave action, flooring, planking, roofing, etc. The best carpenters and architects know the improved results that these nails make possible. They are manufactured at Evanston, Ill., Birmingham, Ala., Galveston and Houston, Tex., Los Angeles, Calif., and Burlington, Ont. Distribution from these factory points enables us to deliver nails with reasonable promptness, and we make a distinct effort to handle the special nail requirements of a large number of users.

Who says a reinforced Concrete Building can't be Destroyed by Fire...

This building, a $3,920,000 loss, could have been saved with Grinnell Automatic ProtectoSpray

When the smoke cleared away . . . damage to this "fireproof" warehouse, and the 150,000 tires and tubes it contained, fell just short of the four million dollar mark! What a terrific price to pay for the lesson, already well-known to many, that "fireproof" buildings often serve merely as good stoves for flammable contents.

Grinnell ProtectoSpray could have prevented this costly fire. ProtectoSpray provides automatic fire protection for many types of special hazards, where standard sprinklers would be less effective. For instance: high piled storage; flammable liquids with flash points down to kerosene; wall or floor openings; oil-filled equipment; paint storage, or wherever a directional spray is needed.

Consider your own special fire hazard . . . then write, and we will be glad to send literature on the Grinnell Automatic ProtectoSpray. Grinnell Company, Inc., Providence, R. I. Branches in principal cities.

Grinnell ProtectoSpray attacks fire in three ways: 1) water vapor from the fine spray droplets dilutes the flammable vapors already present, to make them unburnable; 2) evaporation of the fine droplets removes heat from the solid or liquid source of flammable vapors, thus cutting down the fuel supply; 3) the evaporation of the droplets reduces the temperature of the fire gases, helping to prevent fire spread.

Why 1 when you can transport 4

WITH THE MERCURY FORK TRUCK-TRACKLESS TRAIN SYSTEM

If your fork trucks travel over 150 feet (maximum)—you can save time ...money...man power with the fork truck—"trackless train system."

In the system trailers do the transporting job—the fork truck loads the trailers... hauls the train... unloads and stacks at destination. And if your volume is large and distances great an electric tractor may be the best bet for the hauling job.

Let a MERCURY sales representative actually demonstrate the increase in efficiency the addition of trailers will make in your handling system. There is no obligation. Use the convenient coupon.

Mercury "Jeep" Fork Truck loads, hauls and unloads A-310 Trailers at grocery warehouse.

Model A-310 Trailer (4000 lb. capacity) with the "Safety-Self-Coupler" for "Trackless-Train-System" operation.

Mercury "Jeep" Fork Truck loads A-310 Trailer train to be hauled by a Mercury "TUG" Electric Tractor.

The Lansing BAR IRON TRUCK is sweeping the market

Rugged & Efficient for heavy duty handling of bars, pipe and rod.

The Lansing Bar Iron Truck has won tremendous acceptance because it operates efficiently and stands up under extremely heavy service. In large operations it is used to supplement power handling equipment and in smaller plants it solves the bar stock problem. SPACEMASTER Model "M" Riding Type Electric Trucks right angle stack in less than 6 foot aisles. This means the usual 10 to 12 foot aisles can be reduced at least 40%, making extra space for storage. And, the Model "M's" unique design permits weight and dollar savings, too! Weighs and costs only half as much as standard electric fork trucks. Yet, throughout, it retains the quality construction for which Lewis-Shepard is famous.

ABBREVIATIONS

THE following pages contain the abbreviations used throughout this issue. Most are in common use, others simplified—consistent with variable usage throughout the industry.

The only symbol to be found is the star. As used in the warehouse listings, it denotes that information furnished has been attested by a notary public. By this procedure, editors and readers are given extra assurance that the data is accurate in every detail. Of course, this does not imply that the other listings are questionable.

Because the information contained is supplied on standardized four-page questionnaires—a necessary time- and labor-saving expediency—users of this Directory are urged to check the advertisements for additional facts, some of which may be important to the warehouse user.

If you ship by rail, complete listings show you the road and station for both carload and LCL shipments, and whether a siding is available.

If you are looking for water shipment, the listings show the body of water, length of dock and water depth.

If your shipment is to be by motor freight, the listings also give pertinent data that will enable you to reach the desired warehouse plus the vehicles available at all points where you may spot your stocks or distribute pool cars.

If you need additional information, we will try to obtain it for you. Address your requests to the Editor.

Although every precaution has been exercised in the compilation of this directory, the publishers cannot assume responsibility for errors.

WAREHOUSE DIRECTORY

IN OUR travels, we have talked to a number of top level executives who only had vague ideas as to what constituted modern, public warehousing. Admittedly, most of these fellows reached top level in recent years. With so much defense business, they rarely had to think in terms of warehousing. But the picture is changing, with financing and inventory problems making the manufacturer more dependent on public warehousing.

As a result, we think this is a good time to review services available from public warehouses. They are not merely depositories for safeguarding personal effects or industrial commodities. Most also perform many of these services:

Bottling, boxing, financing, fumigating, grading, handling, hauling, labeling, motor transportation, moth-proofing, moving, weighing, quick-freeze facilities, rental of space for manufacturing, offices and showrooms, rigging, sales representation, sample distribution, sorting, stevedoring.

Listing and advertisements in this section are confined to General Merchandise and Household Goods warehousing. Refrigerated warehouse listings begin on Page 429.

To decode abbreviations used in the listings, see section "Abbreviations," beginning on Page 101.

Advertisers in these sections will appreciate your mentioning that you "saw their advertisement in the Directory Issue of DISTRIBUTION AGE."

Although every precaution has been exercised in the compilation of this directory, the publishers cannot assume responsibility for errors.

PERSONAL CALLS ARE PLEASANT . . .
But They Can Be Expensive to You

It is pleasant to make a personal call. But it can be less than helpful when you are not in the market for warehousing, and expensive for you to take the time to see us that could have been used in getting your day's work done.

We believe that coming to call on you by means of DISTRIBUTORS' NEWS is a good idea, reminding you that we are in the warehousing business. If you are not on our mailing list, please bring this oversight to our attention. We hope you read D/N at your leisure.

Then when you are planning your warehousing campaign, we like to think that you will refer to the listings in DISTRIBUTORS' NEWS, pick up your phone or write us and ask us to talk over your needs with you.

There is no obligation on your part in asking us to figure on your account anywhere on our map. We will gladly tell you all we know about the warehouses shown above and may be able to make suggestions that will save you time and money.

And we like to make personal calls.

The warehouse companies listed here have adequate facilities in the country's foremost distributive centers. They are eager to cooperate with you collectively through Allied Distribution, Inc., or individually as best meets your needs.

Don't be afraid to toss a BIG one at us! We handle truck loads, carloads, train loads or ship and barge cargo.

MEAD JOHNSON TERMINAL CORPORATION

Serving
Manufacturers and Shippers for all distribution problems in INDIANA, ILLINOIS, KENTUCKY
(and adjacent areas)

POOL CAR DISTRIBUTION

Strategically located only 75 miles from the center of population, a major service of Mead Johnson Terminal is pool car distribution for a broad geographic area. Modern handling techniques facilitate redistribution by truck lines reaching all points. Handling charges and transportation charges can be rendered in one bill.

Such services as a complete accounting system, stenciling, re-coopering, reconditioning, and a labeling service for private brand products mean maximum advantage of pool car distribution services.

Redistribution by air transport can be arranged.

RIVER-RAIL TERMINAL

This unusual facility consists of a cantilevered canopy extending over, and providing cover for, two barge slips and 6 railroad car spottings. Permits simultaneous barge loading and unloading with two overhead 10-ton electric cranes. Two switch tracks accommodate 35 railroad cars for continuous operations. Terminal provides fleet or dock space, tug service, stevedoring and open or closed storage. Served jointly by the C&EI and L&N railroads with reciprocal switching, numerous truck lines and all barge lines on the Ohio River.

WAREHOUSING

Evansville—Indiana's second largest trading area, hub of major manufacturing and distribution for 500,000 people—is the home of America's most modern and unusual river-rail terminal and warehouse. Facilities include a 100,000 sq. ft. brick, steel and concrete warehouse building—all on one floor. No floor load limit. Rail siding accommodates 14 car spottings, serves 650' dock under canopy at warehouse. Eight entrances—20 truck doors, with docks—mean quick access, in or out. Careful, speedy, economical handling with two 10-ton overhead electric cranes and 2000 to 10,000 lb. capacity fork lift trucks, completely palletized.

Full protection by sprinklers, Autocall Waterflow Alarm, A.D.T. watchman service and manual fire alarm system allow low contents insurance rate of 11.4c per $100 valuation per annum. U.S. Custom Bonded Storage permits duty payment on imported merchandise as withdrawn.

OPEN YARD STORAGE

Four acres of easily accessible area at Mead Johnson Terminal, available to water and rail, is used for open yard storage. Served by several switch tracks with 15 car spottings and easily reached by trucks—this type storage means fast handling of stored commodities.

Above is reproduced a painting recently made of America's great rail-water terminal, Harborside. It shows clearly the advantages to you of Harborside's strategic location. For beyond dispute, that is the Hudson lapping its deep-water docks; and, across the river, the fabulous New York skyline as seen from the terminal's myriad eastern windows.

If distribution or storage in the Metropolitan area is one of your concerns, give Harborside a call. Needless to say, facilities and advantages are all you might expect from a terminal so strategically placed at the "gateway to the world." Harborside can meet your requirements, whatever they may be. For further information just phone, write or wire.

In Buffalo AMERICAN is the leader

IN BUFFALO, the American...with its three modern warehouses...offers greatest capacity of household and commercial storage in Western New York. More than 1500 individual rooms, locked and sealed...an aggregate of more than 240,000 square feet. Heated rooms for pianos. Special vaults for valuables.

ASK nearly anyone in Buffalo what storage company has had the finest reputation over the years . . . and the answer almost invariably will be—"AMERICAN."

Headed by prominent Buffalo citizens, the American has enjoyed cordial business relationships throughout the Niagara frontier, as well as the industry nationally, for periods extending up to 50 years.

PERSONAL CALLS ARE PLEASANT . . .
But They Can Be Expensive to You

It is pleasant to make a personal call. But it can be less than helpful when you are not in the market for warehousing, and expensive for you to take the time to see us that could have been used in getting your day's work done.

We believe that coming to call on you by means of DISTRIBUTORS' NEWS is a good idea, reminding you that we are in the warehousing business. If you are not on our mailing list, please bring this oversight to our attention. We hope you read D/N at your leisure.

Then when you are planning your warehousing campaign, we like to think that you will refer to the listings in DISTRIBUTORS' NEWS, pick up your phone or write us and ask us to talk over your needs with you.

There is no obligation on your part in asking us to figure on your account anywhere on our map. We will gladly tell you all we know about the warehouses shown above and may be able to make suggestions that will save you time and money.

And we like to make personal calls.

The warehouse companies listed here have adequate facilities in the country's foremost distributive centers. They are eager to cooprate with you collectively through Allied Distribution, Inc., or individually as best meets your needs.

Don't be afraid to toss a BIG one at us! We handle truck loads, carloads, train loads or ship and barge cargo.

For Assured Performance Choose These Warehouses

AN ASSOCIATED WAREHOUSE

Saving Money for Storers in New York

Distribution and Warehousing New York State A.B.C. Board Warehouse Permit
Lehigh Valley Railroad Siding

WAREHOUSE AND LOCATION

The Midtown Warehouse, Inc., is in the Starrett Lehigh Building. Considered the most modern industrial building in New York City.

Situated on the sixth and other floors. Capacity more than 250,000 square feet. 85,000 square feet U. S. Bonded Warehouse.

VENTILATING, HEATING, ETC.

Warehouse is light, airy and well ventilated. Heated in the winter by modern thermoleer units which are thermostatically controlled, allowing us to maintain any desired temperature with these instruments.

WAREHOUSE ACCESSIBLE

By freight or truck elevators. Elevator capacity more than 30,000 lbs. Merchandise can be loaded or unloaded on street platforms or in truck pits right outside of our warehouse doors inside the building. This eliminates the hazards of street loading.

LOW INSURANCE

Compare with others. We are absolutely fireproof.

RAILROAD SIDINGS

Building is known as less carload station on Lehigh Valley tracks. This permits us to handle either carload or less carload freight without cost to the storer.

FREE CALL AND DELIVERY SERVICE

By all R. R., coastwise S. S. carloading Co.'s and long distance Truck Operators.

DEEP SEA AND COASTWISE PIERS

We believe we are ideally located for both. This should result in a low cost of cartage to or from this particular point.

INSPECTION INVITED

We respectfully invite you to inspect the premises at any time, at your convenience so that you may see for yourself the modern warehouse we are operating.

We call attention to our affiliate ultra-modern warehouse at 29-39 Pavonia Ave., Jersey City, N. J. Situated on the Erie R.R. and Hudson River. Send for further details of this warehouse—The Mid-Hudson.

Within The Law . . .

See Z—— v. I——, 65 Pac. (2d) 1429. In this case it was shown that a truck owner operates several motor trucks and he transports merchandise for many customers on contract, but he does not haul generally for the general public. In other words, the owner of the trucks hauled for customers he wanted to haul for and refused to haul for all others.

The legal question arose whether or not the truck operator is a "common carrier." In holding the operator not a common carrier, the court said:

"A common carrier serves the general public. . . . The truck operator here offered no such program of service as he only served those with whom he had pre-existing contracts. Shortly expressed, he was a 'contract carrier'."

Modern higher courts consistently hold that if a private carrier injures, damages or destroys shipped merchandise it will not be liable unless the shipper proves that such damage or loss resulted from lack of "ordinary care" on the part of the carrier or his employes. Thus, a private carrier is liable in damages for injury to or loss of shipped equipment or merchandise only if it is proved that the carrier was negligent in safeguarding the merchandise whereas, a common carrier is practically an insurer of the safe arrival of the merchandise.

"I told ya I heard someone yell 'Timber' a little while ago."

See C—— v. T—— Co., 13 P. (2d) 549. Here it was disclosed that merchandise was placed on the motor-truck owned and operated by a private carrier. When the merchandise was delivered to the consignee it was damaged.

The shipper proved that the carrier had no cover on the truck, and that the merchandise had been rained on and therefore damaged. Because of the failure of the carrier to provide a cover, to protect the merchandise from getting wet, the court held

Above is an actual photograph of four buildings owned outright by us—A long city block of valuable property constituting part of the financial responsibility behind this organization.

For more than a quarter of a century these buildings have been storehouses for merchandise produced in the United States and throughout other parts of the world.

Since its inception the National Warehouse Corporation has, through the years, continuously served its original patrons—a clear indication of good customer relations.

Within The Law . . .

that the carrier was negligent, and therefore liable for the damage.

Also, see B—— v. S—— T——. Co., 171 Pac. (2d) 518. Here suit was filed against a "contract" trucking company for loss of freight when an overloaded semi-trailer was destroyed by fire while the driver was summoning assistance after a blowout.

The jury held the trucking company liable, after deciding that the company was negligent in sending out equipment knowing that the trailer was overloaded. Also, the jury decided that the driver was negligent when he left the truck unguarded while summoning assistance to fix the tire.

Other higher courts have held that a private carrier cannot avoid liability for damage to merchandise during transit unless it proves two things, first, that it is a private carrier, and second, the damage did not result from negligence of its employes.

For example, in L—— Co., 19 N. W. (2d) 567, it was shown that a shipper instructed a private carrier to transport specified merchandise. During the transportation the merchandise was stolen. The shipper sued the carrier for value of the merchandise.

Since the shipper failed to prove that loss resulted from negligence of the truck owner, the higher court held the latter not liable.

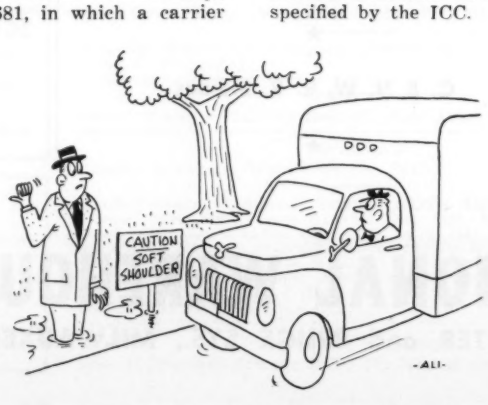

If a common carrier agrees to haul at less than ICC rate is the contract valid?

Modern higher courts consistently hold that any agreement contrary to "law" is void. Generally speaking, a contract by which a private carrier agrees to haul merchandise for a certain price is valid. But if a common carrier agrees to haul merchandise for less than the rate established by the ICC such contract is void.

See M—— v. C—— C—— Corp., 8 Atl. (2d) 681, in which a carrier agreed in writing with a shipper to transport an interstate shipment for 42 cents per hundred pounds. Later the carrier sued the shipper to recover the legal rate which was 66.5 cents.

Although the shipper argued that the common carrier could not compel him to pay a higher freight rate than was specified in the written contract, or bill of lading, the higher court held the shipper bound to pay the legal rate of 66.5 cents per hundred pounds, which was the rate established by ICC.

Notwithstanding certain decisions, readers should keep in mind that various Federal laws provide heavy penalties for making contracts for transportation of merchandise in interstate commerce at less than rates specified by the ICC.
